STONE & THOMAS

STRICTLY ONE-PRICE
DEPARTMENT STORE.

You are not asked a dollar for an article that can be sold for 75c. A lady said in this store one day the past week she was looking at dress goods in one of the "Exclusive Stores," they asked her 65c, offered it to her at 40c before she left, and it's exactly like this piece you are showing me at 39c. Do you endorse that way of doing business, or would you rather have the lowest and only price quoted to you?

Her Hand Burned.

Yesterday at her home on the hill-top near Mozart park, Mrs. Alex Frazier burned both hands and wrists very severely. Dr. Stathers was called. On one finger was a ring which could not be taken off. A Jeweler was called and sawed the ring in two. Mrs. Frazier's clothes caught fire, but fortunately the flames were extinguished.

Another Damage Suit.

Saturday W. D. Johnson, committee for Elizabeth Turner, filed the preliminary papers in a suit for $10,000 damages against W. H. Chapman and T. T. Hutchinson. THE RELIEF DEPARTMENT

Of the Baltimore & Ohio will Continue Without Change.

Superintendent S. R. Barr, of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad's employees' relief department, yesterday issued the following notice:

"The receivers of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company authorize me to give the following notice. By the order of the United States circuit court appointing receivers for the Baltimore & Ohio railroad all obligations of the relief department are thoroughly protected and will be fulfilled to the letter. Under the court's order the relief department will be continued precisely in the same manner as under the company's management, and members of the relief department will receive benefits, etc., with the same regularity and certainty as heretofore. The funds belonging to the relief department, including relief, savings and pension features, under the order of the United States court are perfectly safe, and the appointment of the receivers and their management of the relief department under the supervision and with the approval of the court, absolutely insures the members of all features of the relief department against loss. Payments of benefits, pensions and deposits will continue as before the appointment of the receivers, the relief department not being really affected by the appointment in any way. The savings and building features will continue to loan money to employees as heretofore."

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid, exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and invigorant is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison, Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness, etc., to Electric Bitters. 75c and $1.00 per bottle at Logan Drug Co.'s Drug Store.

DON'T invite disappointment by experimenting. Depend upon One Minute Cough Cure and you have immediate relief. It cures croup. The only harmless remedy that produces immediate results. Logan & Co., Wheeling, W. Va.; B. B. Newwood, and Bowls & Co., Bridgeport, O.

THE CATHEDRAL

Well Filled at all the Services
Yesterday, Second Sunday

OF THE SOLEMN LENTEN SEASON

The Bishop's Second Discourse on the Holy Eucharist Last Evening at the Vesper Services—The Doctrine was Accepted by the Fathers of the Church and Has Been a Tenet of the Catholics in all Ages.

Yesterday being the second Sunday in Lent the services in the Catholic churches were attended with more than usual interest. It is seldom that such large congregations are seen at the Cathedral as assembled at all of the services. The large church was filled at the early mass, at 6:30 a. m. Rev. Father Boutillon officiated at the mass and read the scripture lessons, taking as the theme of his sermon the first seven verses of the fourth chapter of Thessalonians. He talked impressively on purity of heart, and spoke of Christ's Transfiguration, saying had the witnesses who were present not been pure in heart they would not have seen God. The Transfiguration was not a miracle; the miracle was that God in the flesh had so long concealed his glory.

At the 10:30 mass the church was again packed. Rev. Father Harris preached the sermon, his theme being, "Now is the accepted time; now is the day of salvation." He made a very pathetic and effective plea to those who were out of the church to seek salvation, as that was Christ's only object in coming into the world.

Last evening at vespers, Bishop Donahue preached to a vast congregation, his second Lenten sermon, taking for his theme the doctrine of the Real Presence in the Holy Eucharist. His text was the passage from the epistle of St. John describing the Last Supper, and giving the words of Christ in handing to his disciples the bread and wine. He dwelt on the words "this is my body," and "this is my blood," and read extracts from the writings of religious authors from the first century down to the Council of Trent, to show that the doctrine of the real presence of Christ in the Eucharist was not new, that it was accepted by the fathers and by the early church, and he quoted also the writings of Matthew, Mark and Luke and from Paul to show that the apostles believed this was the real body and blood of Christ. The dogma, he said, was not originated by the Council of Trent, but was merely formally stated there. From Suetonius to Tertullian all the saints accepted the belief, and the former chronicled the fact that a few left the Eucharist because they did not believe it was the body of Christ, thus showing plainly that the church in that early day did believe it.

The bishop said that those outside of the church had managed by the exercise of their individual infidelity, to deduce from the accounts of the Lord's Supper and from the words of Jesus in handing the bread and the chalice to his disciples, two hundred and six different meanings for the words. They had held opinions one directly the reverse of the other, but the greatest body of Christian believers on the earth had always believed that Christ meant that the bread and wine were his body and blood shed for the remission of sin. The body is fed upon the body of Christ, that the soul may be cleansed, and whosoever partaketh unworthily is guilty of Christ's blood, as Judas was when he betrayed him.

The Catholic church holds that the Eucharist is the real body of Christ. The faithful feel for the humblest priest a deep reverence because he transforms the water into the body of the Lord; yet priests have fallen to the deepest depths, just as Judas, whose privilege it was to see and touch the Savior, fell and his fall was infinitely worse than if he had not been so close to the Christ.

He was rejoiced, he said, to see the members of the congregation making good confession, and to see with what earnestness they observed the Lenten season. The priest, the Bishop, the cardinal, and even the Pope himself, must make a good confession lest they partake of the Eucharist unworthily. He urged his hearers to a stricter observance of the faith.

On Wednesday night a priest from Pittsburgh will preach in the Cathedral, and on Friday night the Stations of the Cross will be given. Communion was administered after the early mass yesterday.

LUTZ BROS. LAUNDRY.

ALL last winter Mr. George A. Mills, of Lebanon, Conn., was badly afflicted with rheumatism. As times it was so severe that he could not stand up straight, but was drawn over on one side. "I tried different remedies without receiving relief," he says "until about six months ago I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. After using it for three days my rheumatism was gone and has not returned since."

"GIVE me a liver regulator and I can regulate the world," said a genius.

The drugist handed him a bottle of Dr. Williams' Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. Logan & Co., Wheeling, W. Va.; B. B. Newwood, Benwood and Bowls & Co., Bridgeport, O.
